Circles of HOPE
Leadership Giving Program

Mission Statement

Recognizing the dignity and beauty of every person, we pledge intelligent and practical action to overcome racism, poverty and injustice. And to build a metropolitan community where all people may live in freedom, harmony, trust and affection. Black and white, yellow, brown and red from Detroit and its suburbs of every economic status, national origin and religious persuasion we join in this covenant.

—Adopted March 8, 1968

Message from the CEO

Dear Friends,

The following pages list thousands of donors that have helped support Focus: HOPE. Some began giving to Focus: HOPE in 1968, while others might have only made their first gift recently. Some have contributed millions of dollars, investing heavily in our programs and work; others might have sent a small gift to help feed seniors during the holidays. Some send checks through the mail, while others responded through social media or our promotions with partners like Groupon or Kickstarter.

But regardless of the circumstances or size, we value each of our donors and the trust that they have placed in Focus: HOPE.

When Focus: HOPE was founded by Father William Cunningham and Eleanor Josaitis in 1968, it was with a pledge to use “intelligent and practical action to overcome racism, poverty, and injustice.” Our commitment to intelligent and practical action quickly led us to develop innovative programs focused on food and basic needs and education and job training. But none of these programs would have been possible without donors and partners like you and those described on the next few pages.

Most of our donors give to Focus: HOPE to support our education and food programs. This isn't surprising; it reflects our dual goals at Focus: HOPE to both help individuals and families in their time of need but to also provide them the tools to improve their circumstances, even gaining the skills to become a machinist or engineer. But other donors have supported programs ranging from our HOPE Village Initiative to our community art programs or early childhood education. In every case, though, they place their faith in us to be good stewards and achieve results.

This year we also recognize the hundreds of donors who responded to the passing of our co-founder Eleanor Josaitis. Eleanor touched thousands of people in our community and her impact will on our community is lasting through the legacy that she and her colleagues created at Focus: HOPE.

On March 8, 2013 Focus: HOPE will celebrate its 45th anniversary. From the beginning, Focus: HOPE was a partnership with the corporations, individuals, and foundations that made donations and volunteered in our programs. As we approach our anniversary, many will reflect on Focus: HOPE's accomplishments, but the real credit belongs to the people and organizations acknowledged on the following pages.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Leadership Giving Program

“Back in 1981, I had the privilege of helping to launch the Machinist Training Institute (MTI) and I am proud that in that time thousands of people have received training and now have jobs to support their families. Our company hired many of the graduates and found them to be well trained, self-confident, hard working and ready to take on leadership roles in the manufacturing world. I continue to support Focus: HOPE because I know that they will continue to make a difference in so many people’s lives.”
